Latin Organization Fair offers ‘Salsa Bowl’

Long Beach, CA – In honor of Latino Heritage Month, the University Student Union Program Council is hosting the second annual Latin Organization Fair on Wednesday, Sept. 30 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the USU Southwest Terrace.

The fair, which will feature food, drinks and live music, is designed to educate students and celebrate Latino heritage.

“Nearly 30 percent of our students at CSULB are of Chicano or Latino,” said USU Programs Coordinator Keya Allen-Littleton. “With that percentage, it’s something we need to highlight on campus. Everyone’s culture should be highlighted.”

This year, local restaurants will compete in the first-ever Salsa Bowl, in which they will offer their delectable variations on the spicy sauce and only one will be chosen as the best by the fair’s attendees.

Students who attend will also receive a voucher for class credit, which states “I Attended the Latin Org. Fair.”
